The Phia Group Announces Development and Marketing Agreement with TriZetto

October 11, 2006 -- The Phia Group LLC is pleased to announce a development and marketing agreement with The TriZetto Group Inc. to provide QicLinkT customers with subrogation investigation and recovery services. TriZetto's QicLink software is the most widely used administrative system in the employee healthcare benefits industry.

Utilizing specialized, proprietary recovery software and experienced subrogation specialists and attorneys, The Phia Group will conduct claims monitoring for potential subrogation, overpayment and reimbursement situations on behalf of QicLink customers. A custom extract of processed claims data from the QicLink system provides the necessary data elements that allow The Phia Group to quickly identify recovery opportunities and begin the subrogation investigation process. This valuable tool can give customers rapid access to The Phia Group's innovative recovery detection software without requiring an upfront IT investment, while enabling more rapid investigation and recovery of potential subrogation savings.

Adam V. Russo, Esq., a co-founder at The Phia Group stated, "We here at The Phia Group are extremely excited about the alliance with TriZetto. Under this agreement, we can offer unique and innovative recovery solutions to QicLink customers." Michael Branco, the other principal of The Phia Group, added, "Our alliance will present an efficient cost-containment solution to administration and employee benefit plans nationwide. We look forward to working with TriZetto and QicLink users."

About The Phia Group, LLC
